

PLAN

The Plan1 First Responders share service — part of our newly designed and improved chemical management platform — makes it easy to share critical chemical information with first responders.

About Plan1

The MSDSonline Plan1 First Responder Share Service gives companies an efficient way to provide emergency response teams with quick and easy access to hazardous chemical inventory information. Through our cloud-based information sharing service, first responders can better plan, prepare and assess the risks associated with handling emergencies where chemical hazards are present.

For MSDSonline Customers

First responders are at particular risk of occupational injuries and illnesses, including those caused by chemical exposures. As an MSDSonline customer, you're already doing your part to streamline compliance and improve workplace safety. Now, with Plan1, you can go one step further — you can close the loop on hazardous chemical safety and help 'serve and protect' the very people who dedicate their lives to serving and protecting you.

The MSDSonline Plan1 First Responder Share Service is available for free to HQ and HQ RegXR customers. It allows for the seamless distribution of hazardous chemical information to first responders, who are all-too-often forced to address emergencies without access to a clear and accurate picture of potential on-site chemical dangers.

Getting started is simple. Just enter your emergency responders' contact information and then choose to share any or all of the following: safety data sheets, indexed product summaries, facility floor plans, chemical container maps, and chemical inventory lists.

The Plan1 service does the rest, emailing your first responders a link to your secure, up-to-date hazardous chemical information. It's that easy!

For First Responders

When emergencies strike, you're the first to arrive on the scene. With little time to waste, you can be left assessing risks and developing emergency response plans with outdated or inaccessible information, the result of which can be devastating, especially if hazardous chemicals are involved.

Take, for example, the West, Texas fertilizer plant explosion, which decimated a community and injured and took the lives of many, including first responders. To help prevent the recurrence of tragic incidents like this one, MSDSonline developed Plan1, a cloud-based sharing service that gives emergency responders immediate access to participating customers' hazardous chemical information.

Because Plan1 is online, you always have around-the-clock access to company-specific chemical safety information, such as facility floor plans, chemical container maps, chemical inventory lists, and safety data sheets — which contain critical fire-fighting, first-aid and spill-response information.

Accessing this potentially lifesaving information is easy. Once an MSDSonline customer elects to share with you, you'll receive an email containing Plan1 log-in instructions that you can use to retrieve the shared information anytime from any device with an Internet connection — for free. It's that easy!

Plan 1: Because having immediate access to chemical information can be a matter of life or death.
